

WELCOME

to Against the Odds magazine's first annual! It's hard to believe that five years have passed since the first issue of ATO rolled off the presses and into the hands of eager wargamers everywhere. Sixteen issues have come and gone, featuring the best in contemporary wargame designs and scholarly articles on military and simulation topics. What do we do for an encore? You hold it in your hands. This is the first of many oversize issues that will allow us to present bigger game designs and longer, more detailed articles. We welcome you to explore the world of ATO, and if you purchased this issue separately, we invite you visit us online and see for yourself what has made us an award-winning industry leader in design, graphics, and supporting articles. Start on the road to the next level in gaming now, with this issue's Toppling the Reich by veteran game designer, Dr. John Prados.

Thanks for choosing Against the Odds.
